^[1] Operating expense consists of fulfillment expenses, selling and marketing expenses, general and administrative expenses, technology expenses and other operating expenses (net).

Mr. Junling Liu, Co-Founder, Chairman, and Chief Executive Officer of 111, commented, "Our fourth quarter capped off a strong year for the company as we achieved record high growth rate of 141.8%. On a full year basis, we achieved net revenue of RMB3.95 billion, representing an increase of 121.3% year-over-year. In addition to the accelerated revenue growth and the rapid scaling of our business, we have made substantial progress in improving gross profit and further narrowing operating losses as a percentage of net revenue.

2019 was a year of considerable strategic progress where we continue to break down barriers to accessible healthcare by offering transformative novel model to serve the vast demand in China's multi-trillion healthcare industry. Firstly, 1 Drugstore, the pioneer in online drugstore model in China has become a well-recognized and trusted brand. Instead of tediously adjusting their schedules around an antiquated healthcare system, customers can now obtain drugs and other medical services in the privacy of their homes.

Secondly, in an ongoing effort to offer healthcare services to as many people as possible and to provide the largest selection to our consumers, we substantially expanded our network, ending the year covering more than 235,000 pharmacies (approximately 50% of the pharmacy market), which makes 111 the largest virtual pharmacy network in China. In addition, we established direct purchasing relationships with 188 drug manufacturers, expanded our technology-enabled infrastructure that includes a nationwide network of five fulfillment centers, and reinforced our commitment for a best-in-class supply chain infrastructure. Finally, we continued to strengthen our ecosystem through strategic partnerships with insurance companies and other healthcare providers.

2019 was also a year of major regulatory changes in our sector with sweeping reforms enacted to improve efficiency and affordability of healthcare delivery to China's large and geographically dispersed aging population. Many of these reforms are providing a strong tailwind for our business and we believe we are uniquely positioned as we strive to build a comprehensive healthcare services platform to meet the growing demand in every city.

In 2020, we will continue to scale our operations, further growing our network of pharmacies, drug manufacturers and doctors. In addition, we plan to expand into public hospitals across China, with a particular focus on tier three to six cities where we believe the need for our services is the most acute. We will also continue to develop novel services and tools that will educate and empower our customers and partners to make better informed decisions.

We are the only company in our industry with the capacity to provide nationwide, omni-channel coverage in China in the drug commercialization space. Every year, new life saving or life improving drugs are being approved and we can ensure that these drugs reach the people in need. The "111 omni-channel model" will offer multiple channels for pharmaceutical companies to simultaneously reach healthcare providers nationwide and educate them about new drugs and therapies. This will significantly reduce time, resources, and cost, which will allow drugs to be distributed efficiently, and quickly. Imagine a platform that can deliver innovative drugs to a vast pool of patients in every city across China simultaneously! That is the power of the 111 omni-channel model."

Environment, Social and Governance

On January 20, 2020, in response to the Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak, 111 established an anti-epidemic command team, and senior executives led their teams to the front lines of the epidemic in Hubei province to provide medical supplies and resources. All of 111's employees worked overtime during the Chinese New Year holiday to meet the needs of the nation.

On January 24, 2020, 111's Internet hospital was one of the first Internet-based healthcare companies to offer free online medical consultations to the public in Wuhan and subsequently to the entire Hubei province. It was also among the first to provide free online drug refill services to individuals with chronic conditions. 111 worked with both pharmaceutical manufacturers and logistics companies to ensure supplies are delivered to those in need, whether it is in Wuhan, Hubei province, or nationwide. Our ability to act quickly and effectively alleviated pressure on overburdened hospitals and helped to curtail the further spread of COVID-19 by allowing people with chronic illnesses and COVID-19 patients who do not have any life-threatening symptoms to receive medical care without visiting a hospital. In addition, 111 donated 100,000 protective masks and other drug products to the people in Wuhan. We also launched a channel featuring real-time information about COVID-19, with news updates and advice from medical professionals on containing the virus and preventing infection. Finally, 111 is currently offering our "Medical Supply Assurance Service" to help businesses protect their employees as they begin to resume their operations and recover from the impact of the epidemic.

Fourth Quarter 2019 Financial Results

Net revenues were RMB1.35 billion (US$193.6 million), representing an increase of 141.8% from RMB557.4 million in the same quarter of last year. Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In evaluating the business, the Company considers and uses non-GAAP loss from operations, non-GAAP net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders and non-GAAP loss per ADS, non-GAAP measures, as supplemental measures to review and assess its operating performance. The Company defines non-GAAP loss from operations as loss from operations excluding share-based compensation. The Company defines non-GAAP net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders as net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders excluding share-based compensation and impairment loss of long-term investment. The Company defines non-GAAP loss per ADS as loss per ADS excluding share-based compensation and impairment loss of long-term investment per ADS. The presentation of these non-GAAP financial measures is not intended to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for the financial information prepared and presented in accordance with U.S. GAAP.

The Company believes that non-GAAP loss from operations, non-GAAP net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders and non-GAAP loss per ADS help identify underlying trends in its business that could otherwise be distorted by the effect of certain expenses that it includes in loss from operations and net loss. Share-based compensation is a non-cash expense that varies from period to period. Impairment loss of long-term investment is a non-cash expense that occurred in this period. As a result, management excludes these two items from its internal operating forecasts and models. Management believes that this adjustment for share-based compensation and impairment loss of long-term investment provides investors with a basis to measure the company's core performance, including compared with the performance of other companies, without the period-to-period variability created by share-based compensation. The Company believes that non-GAAP loss from operations, non-GAAP net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders and non-GAAP loss per ADS provide useful information about its operating results, enhances the overall understanding of its past performance and future prospects and allow for greater visibility with respect to key metrics used by the management in their financial and operational decision-making.

The non-GAAP financial measures are not defined under U.S. GAAP and are not presented in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The non-GAAP financial measures have limitations as analytical tools. One of the key limitations of using non-GAAP loss from operations, non-GAAP net loss attributable to ordinary shareholders or non-GAAP loss per ADS is that it does not reflect all items of income and expense that affect the Company's operations. Further, the non-GAAP financial measures may differ from the non-GAAP information used by other companies, including peer companies, and therefore their comparability may be limited.

The Company compensates for these limitations by reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures to the nearest U.S. GAAP measures, all of which should be considered when evaluating the Company's performance. The Company encourages you to review its financial information in its entirety and not rely on a single financial measure.

Reconciliation of the non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable U.S. GAAP measures is included at the end of this press release.
